WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt today announced arrival in London of Gen. George C. Marshall, Admiral Ernest King and Gen. H. H. Arnold, top army, navy and air force commanders.

Countances Shelled By Naval Units

LONDON (CP-Reuters) — The German-controlled Paris radio said tonight that Countances near the west coast of the Cherbourg peninsula has been shelled by British naval units.

Report Rommel In Personal Command

By JOHN W. JARREL
ABOARD THE U.S.S. AUGUSTA OFF THE FRENCH COAST (CP) — Field Marshal Rommel, according to one report, has left his Paris headquarters to take personal command of his 7th and 15th Armies in the invasion area under the overall command of Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

Not Enough Evidence To Try Gen. Miller

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war department made known this afternoon Gen. Eisenhower had reported evidence against Maj. Gen. Henry J. F. Miller, charged with violating security regulations, did not warrant a court-martial.

Miller was reduced to his permanent rank of lieutenant-colonel in the air forces and sent home after he was reported to have said at a cocktail party in London the invasion would come no later than June 15.

Reports Promising Invasion Outlook

LONDON (CP) — A delayed dispatch tonight from Charles Lynch, Reuters correspondent with the Canadians in France, quoted a staff officer as saying "the second front operation is going according to plan and the outlook is promising." Lynch quoted the officer as calling the plan "very ambitious," and saying there was every evidence the Germans had been surprised.

Canadians Drive Off Nazi Tank Thrusts

WITH THE CANADIANS IN FRANCE (CP-Reuters) — Two powerful tank-supported German thrusts penetrated the outer Canadian lines Thursday night but the Canadians regained all the ground two hours later and the lines were restored.

French Liberation Dawns — Eisenhower

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP-Reuters) — Gen. Eisenhower, in a proclamation to the French people said today "the day of liberation has dawned" and "when victory is won and France is liberated from her oppressor the French people will be free to choose at the earliest possible moment... the government under which they wish to live."

The proclamation, dropped on enemy-held areas and posted in liberated districts, said: "We shall destroy the Nazi tyranny root and branch so the people of Europe may have a new birth of freedom."

Russian Boy Forced To Fight for Nazis

By L. S. B. Shapiro
WITH THE ALLIED FORCES IN FRANCE (Delayed) — A 13-year-old Russian boy, in a German uniform several sizes too big for him, was among prisoners from the German 21st panzer division just captured.

The boy told intelligence officers he had been forced into the German army a year ago and sent to France after training.

He seemed apathetic about being taken prisoner, but he brightened considerably when put aboard a ship for England.

Great Blows Expected On Eastern Front

MOSCOW (AP) — All signs point to an early opening of an offensive by the Red army on the eastern front to match the blows against Hitler on the western front.

The Russian people are avidly following the progress of the Allies in France and Italy.

BEIGHT CAPTURED

LONDON (CP) — Moscow announced today that Soviet troops have captured a height of "great importance" north of Iasi in Romania, where a German radio commentator declared Thursday Russian armored forces had launched an offensive on a wide front.

The broadcast Soviet communiqué said about 200 Germans were killed and several enemy tanks destroyed.

200 Join Search In B.C. Interior For Ex-Victorian

Harold Ede, 32, postmaster at Oliver, B.C., and former Victorian, is missing in the interior, and more than 200 searchers, including police, rangers, legionnaires, townspeople, scouts and school children, aided by bloodhounds, are looking for him in wooded areas of the Penticton country.

Mr. Ede, a veteran of the 1914-1918 war, left his home Tuesday to work in his orchard and has not been seen since. Tracks have been found, which indicated he was wandering aimlessly in the vicinity, according to a Canadian Press dispatch from Penticton.

Mr. Ede's father is Wilbur Ede, Island Highway, Colwood. He has four sisters, Miss Ada Ede, 1925 Ash Street; Miss Kate Ede, Comox; Miss Ruth Ede, Vancouver; and Mrs. Walter Fletcher, 2708 Dufferin, Victoria.

'Look Out, Look Out!' Unconscious Victim Cries

By OLWEN RODSTROM
The tragic accident to the boys, Andre Gagnon and Robin Sim, on the way to school a summer morning, has shocked more people than usual in a traffic mishap.

"Each time Robin gained momentary consciousness, he cried, 'Look out, look out!' Poor child!"

From every side come expressions of protest against army driving I noticed this in town today, and my boy, a friend of Andre's, with whom he was taking an interest in mineralogy at the provincial exhibit at the Parliament Buildings, remarked the same thing on his way home from Esquimalt last evening.

5th Army Takes Viterbo, Tarquinia

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ROME (AP) — Fifth Army troops racing after the retreating Germans captured Viterbo, prize road and rail junction 40 miles northwest of Rome, in a swift seven-mile dash today, and also seized Tarquinia, near the coast and 55 miles northwest of Rome.

There were no signs the Nazi command had been able to reorganize the fleeing remnants of the 14th and 10th armies sufficiently to attempt a determined stand.

The Allied advance also enveloped Vetralla, on the lateral road from Tarquinia and about six miles southwest of Viterbo.

The German high command earlier had announced evacuation of Tarquinia, and said its rear-guards had withdrawn north of the town.

So rapid was the drive north of Rome that German forces guarding the Adriatic sector also began to retreat to avoid encirclement, and Allied troops were rolling forward along the entire Italian front.

The Allied 5th Army occupied the entire Lake Bracciano area and went on to capture Caprarola, 34 miles north of Rome on the east side of Lake di Vico, and about 10 miles southeast of the highway junction town of Viterbo.

(The Germans announced the abandonment of Tarquinia, 55 airline miles from Rome and about three miles inland from the Tyrrhenian coast.)

An Allied spokesman said that among prisoners taken in the Lake Bracciano area were Nazis from the 20th German Luftwaffe Field Division.

"This division came to Italy from Denmark, which according to the prisoners, it left only a week ago," said the spokesman.

CAPTURE TOLLO

The five-month standstill on the lines in the Adriatic sector ended with the Germans starting a withdrawal between the coast and Cremona, five miles inland. Eighth Army forces moved up two miles and occupied Tollo, 7 1/2 miles from the provincial capital of Chieti. The Nazis promptly began shelling the advance.

3rd Division Of Canada Fights in France

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence headquarters announced today the Canadian 3rd Division is taking part in the invasion of France.

A headquarters spokesman said that a cable from Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, authorized announcement of the bare fact that the 3rd Division was in action.

German sources had already reported the presence of this division, which is participating in its first operation of the war. The German-controlled Calais radio Thursday night said it was among the infantry engaged in the Normandy fighting, fighting along with units of the British 3rd Division at Arramanches on the coast northeast of fallen Bayeux.

No Word On 2nd Being in Action

Defence headquarters have not confirmed or even commented on another German report that the Canadian 2nd Division is also in the action. When the German reports were put up to a S.I.A.E.F. spokesman Thursday night he said no sign of the Canadian force could be identified at that time.

In this first action of the 3rd Division—one of the best-trained Canadian formations—the Canadians may be led by Maj. Gen. R. F. L. Keller, 43, Kelowna, B.C. Speculation several months ago named him as head of the scrappy 3rd.

His wife and two sons live in Victoria.

"Mrs. Keller, wife of Maj. Gen. Keller, resides at 2480 Cardigan Road, with her two sons. The general was honored in the King's birthday honors announced Tuesday. He was made a Commander of the Order of the British Empire."

The 3rd Division was originally commanded by Lt. Gen. E. W. Sanson of Montreal and Stanley, N.B., who later became a corps commander and now is on leave pending retirement. The next commander of this division was Maj. Gen. Basil Price, also of Montreal. He is now overseas commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society with headquarters in London.

Promotion Came Quickly to Keller

Big, sturdy, red-faced, Gen. Keller is a small arms expert who started the war as a brigade major. His promotion was swift as general staff officer, lieutenant-colonel and commander of an infantry brigade.

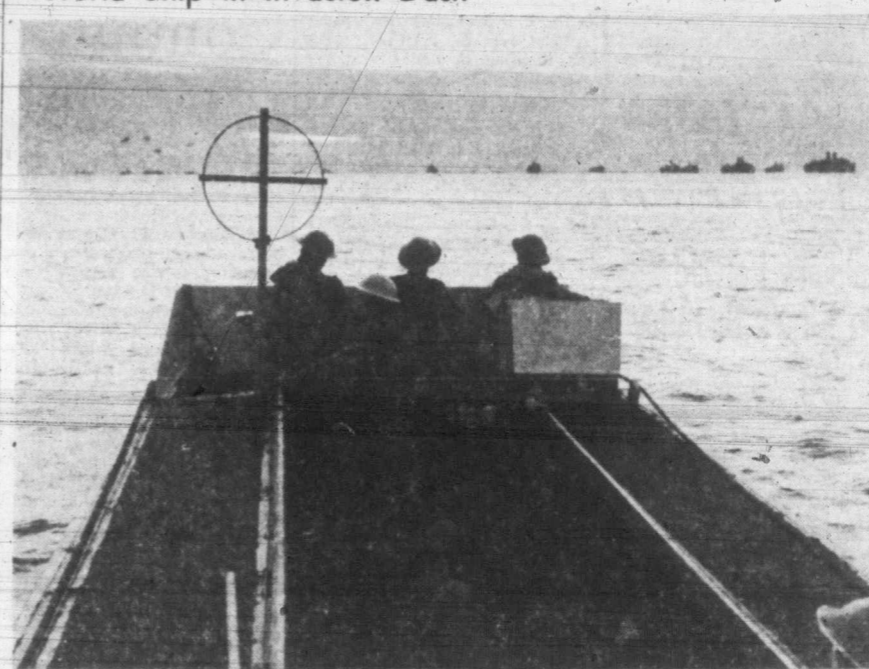

He is an Englishman by birth, but was educated in Canada and is a graduate of the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont. He is known for his sharp questions on inspection. He'll demand to know a man's last range score, how his gaiters fit or what he honestly thinks of the food. He has spent most of his army days with the Princess Pats.

The 3rd Division, representing all parts of Canada, includes Highland units, rifle regiments and formations of French-speaking soldiers. It was mobilized in Canada in 1940, arrived in Britain in the summer and fall of 1941, and since then had engaged in intensive training.

Lindbergh On Duty In Gilberts

DETROIT (AP) — Charles A. Lindbergh, who reported recently to Admiral Chester W. Victoria Ship in Invasion Dash

From bow of a landing craft from one of Victoria's ships, H.M.C.S. Prince David, can be seen the huge invasion fleet as the ship races for the hostile beach loaded with Canadian troops. Both the David and the Prince Henry were in the invasion fleet and landing craft from them smashed their way through mine fields and submerged booby traps to land Canadian army units in the first assault on the French coast.

500 Victoria Men May Be Transferred

Cases of 500 men employed in nonessential industries in Victoria, who were granted indefinite permits to remain in their jobs, following call-up under previous compulsory transfer orders, are now being reviewed by the local office of National Selective Service, C. A. Mudge, manager announced today.

"A number of men have already been transferred and a considerable number will be," Mr. Mudge said.

"Under previous orders we could not take a married man from a nonessential job and put him into an essential one, if we could not guarantee him the same pay. Today we can move him, whether it means less pay or not."

Saying the labor situation was desperate, Mr. Mudge said in the Victoria area alone, 774 men are needed, the majority for essential war work. In addition the Victoria office is getting continuous calls from other districts for men, he said.

Approximately 600 men were called up and interviewed under the seven previous compulsory transfer orders and of that number about 125 were transferred. The remainder are the men now under review by the Selective Service office, he said.

Nazi Armored Thrust Held Off By Canadians In Biggest Fight

LONDON (CP) — The battle for German-held Caen, officially described as a "tough nut" in the Nazi defensive system, raged unchecked today with British and Canadian troops fighting fiercely to take that key communications centre nine miles inland on the Orne River.

The Canadians, with Britons and U.S. troops on other sectors of the invasion front, last were reported by supreme headquarters of the Allied expeditionary force to be making steady progress against an enemy whose reserves, a communiqué said, "have now been in action along the whole front."

Paratroopers Jump Through Flak

By ROBERT REUBEN
SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE (Delayed - CP - Reuters) — U.S. paratroopers jumped into France early today through a flaming ceiling of flak and outflanked the Germans in street-by-street fighting. They captured key strongholds, destroyed German fortifications, facing landing barges and hampered enemy reinforcements.

We sneaked into town behind enemy lines and the paratroopers fought the key German garrison until all had been killed or captured.

Casualties in our unit have been remarkably light, but the Germans paid more heavily both in lives and prisoners. Boys, Polish soldiers and Russians from Georgia were included among the prisoners.

Paratroopers Jump Through Flak

U.S. troops are under personal command of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, it was disclosed. Field dispatches said the Americans had occupied Formigny, 20 miles southeast of Ste. Mere Eglise on the Caen-Carentan road.

At least 1,600 Nazi prisoners have been taken since the invasion was launched, reports to headquarters said.

Confused fighting continued in Normandy

A thrust by U.S. troops within 18 miles of Cherbourg was reported by the German Transocean agency. It said the Americans advanced more than a mile from Ste. Mere Eglise towards Valognes in the direction of Cherbourg.

Berlin broadcasts reported an Allied push towards Carentan, 40 miles west of Caen and 29 miles southeast of Cherbourg.

Today's Allied communiqué, No. 7, said the Allied invasion forces had made progress "in all sectors" despite continued reinforcements of German armor and "our build-up continues."

Poorer Route Left to Nazis, Now Threatened

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP) — U.S. troops pressing toward the strategic port of Cherbourg have seized Ste. Mere Eglise, 19 miles to the southeast, and cut the road and railroad to Cherbourg, leaving the Germans only a secondary and perhaps already threatened road on the west.

U.S. parachute troops seized Ste. Mere Eglise, hanging on until seaborne infantry joined them.

Armored combat between Allied and German forces in the rolling Normandy hill country was rising in intensity, Supreme Headquarters reported, as field dispatches reported British and Canadian units had joined forces for a co-ordinated attack on Caen, pivot city at the eastern end of the combat zone.

An enemy counterattack in the Caen area was held and ground was gained, headquarters reported. Increasing armor was being thrown into the fighting on both sides.

Headquarters officially announced airborne troops sent into the mighty assault in northern France included Canadian officers and men.

French paratroopers have been dropped to aid in the Allied assault on France, under German occupation since 1940.

Unsubstantiated German reports said hand-to-hand fighting was raging in Caen.

Leonard Mosley, London Daily Sketch war correspondent, said in a field dispatch that British and Canadian forces in the bridgehead area had made contact Thursday.

U.S. troops are under personal command of Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley, it was disclosed. Field dispatches said the Americans had occupied Formigny, 20 miles southeast of Ste. Mere Eglise on the Caen-Carentan road.

At least 1,600 Nazi prisoners have been taken since the invasion was launched, reports to headquarters said.

RETURNING EVACUEES DON'T FIT

The term "Lost Generation" is being applied to the women and children who were evacuated from England to America during the blitz and who have now returned to this island. Some day their story will make a great novel. Many of them cannot seem to fit in here now. They have become a curious mixture of American, Canadian and British, which fails to blend with the British pattern of life.

Little Damage in Rome

NAPLES (AP) — Lieut. Frederick Hart of New York, Allied military government historical art expert, said today there is "no basis for German accusations of extensive damage to Rome's cultural and religious monuments."

U.S. Bombers Hit Munich From Italy

By GLADWIN HILL
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (AP)—U.S. heavy bombers striking from the south 500 to 750 strong battered prime targets in the Munich area of southern Germany today in a new pin-point attack on the Nazi war machine co-ordinated with disruptive blows on German positions in France from the west.

The bombers, flying into the Munich area for the first time from Italy, and their escorting fighters, fought through clouds of German fighters to reach their targets.

Swiss dispatches reported explosions in the Munich and Augsburg areas.

(A BBC broadcast said the Allied attack from Britain had destroyed all railway bridges on the Seine River between Paris and the sea.)

For the first time since D-day official reports, however, made no mention of Allied air-borne operations Thursday night.

DESTROY 72 NAZIS
During operations of the past 24 hours 52 German planes were destroyed in the air and 20 others were accounted for on the ground, as against an Allied loss of 35 fighters and five bombers.

Weather cut down the scope of the aerial operations supporting the invasion troops.

But during the night heavy aircraft of the Canadian bomber group smashed without loss at the railway centre of Mayenne.

Germans made four fighter-bomber attacks against the invasion beaches between early Thursday morning and late in the night, employing some 60 planes, but were driven off each time, losing 10 planes.

From 8-hour Tuesday until noon Thursday 289 Allied planes had been shot down—barely 1 per cent of the number of sorties down. In the same period 178 German planes were destroyed.

British Drive Japs Towards Imphal

KANDY, Ceylon (CP)—Allied troops have captured the northern end of the north Myitkya airfield in Burma, and British troops, operating to chase the Japanese out of India, have driven 14 miles southward down the Kohima road toward Imphal. Allied headquarters announced today.

The airborne Chindits also captured the village of Holo, two miles northeast of Myitkya, while Chinese troops captured new positions inside the town itself and drove off a Japanese night attack.

To the west in the Mogaung Valley, Chinese closed a gap between a roadblock they had established west of Lachi Ga, six miles northwest of Kamlang and Sakan.

In the Kohima fighting, the communiqué said, the British captured positions five and seven miles southeast of Kohima, as well as 14 miles south of the Allied communications hub.

British units also were moving northward from Imphal toward a junction with the Kohima force, repulsing counterattacks and consolidating positions en route.

Canadian Ships of War Kept Busy Off French Coast

By SUB-LIEUT. WESSELEY HICKS, R.C.N.V.R.

A UNITED KINGDOM PORT (Delayed, CP)—The birds must be walking today," said a yeoman of signals as H.M.C.S. Prescott stood off the coast of France today, day after day, off the beach.

The words were apt, for hundreds of ships, from great battle-ships to landing barges, filled the area and it seemed the birds literally could have walked across the English Channel.

We spent six hours, off the coast today as the Prescott, one of the Royal Canadian Navy's corvettes, commanded by Lt. Cmdr. W. J. McIsaac of Charlottetown, fulfilled her job. We are going back now for another convoy.

As we moved into the coast at 2 p.m. out from the shore came a flotilla of Canadian minesweepers—the Mina, Malpeque, Wasaga, Blaimore, Milltown—helping to keep the sea lanes clear of mines.

From the Milltown as she passed to port came the laconic query: "How's Red?"

Equally casual, the Prescott's skipper assured the Milltown the state of his health was perfect. A short time later the corvette Drumheller steamed past us with a convoy.

Looking for a place to dump her convoy, the Prescott then signalled an American cruiser: "Do you know where the port authorities are?"

The answer came back to us: "No, I'm a stranger here myself."

Shortly after 8 p.m., our immediate job completed, we put our nose into the Channel and headed back for England.

The Canadian Navy's new destroyer, the Algonquin, crossed our bows. From McIsaac went the signal: "How are you enjoying it, Debbie?"

And Lt. Cmdr. D. W. Piers of Halifax, commander of the Algonquin, replied: "Everything fine and dandy here."

of fighters. These and other fighters strafed ground targets, shooting down 31 enemy aircraft and destroying more than a score on the ground. From these operations three bombers and 24 fighters are missing.

Medium bombers attacked a road bridge over the Orne at Verdon and fighter bombers struck at troop transport concentrations, gun positions, armored vehicles and railway and road targets behind the battlefield.

Fighters patrolled over shipping and the assault area. Twenty-one enemy aircraft were destroyed. Eleven of our fighters were lost but two of the pilots are safe.

Rocket-firing fighters attacked railway centres at Rennes, Fougères, Alençon, Mayenne and Pontaubault.

Two heavy bombers are missing. Light bombers struck at railway targets behind the battle area during the night.

Security and Ample Work
Veterans' Postwar Aims

VANCOUVER—Comprehensive social security for war veterans as well as detailed reconstruction proposals covering all Canadians were included in the rehabilitation report submitted today to Dominion Canadian Legion convention.

A Dominion-provincial conference to eliminate any possible constitutional obstacles in the way of a full rehabilitation program was suggested in the 7,500-word report which said rehabilitation is the primary responsibility of the federal government but the provinces are better fitted to co-ordinate and direct the work.

Delegates also heard Maj. Gen. L. R. Lafleche, National War Services Minister, urge all Legion members to work towards elimination of racial dissension in the Dominion.

Immediately after Gen. Lafleche spoke a motion was introduced to the effect that the convention did not agree with his statement that Canada has reached as near a total war effort as was possible for a country so far removed from battle.

Both were ruled out of order by Dominion chairman A. E. (Jack) Moore of Winnipeg who said the Legion's attitude had been adequately expressed in previous convention actions.

CONTROLS AFTER WAR
The rehabilitation plan urged that wartime controls be retained after the war to effect an orderly transition to peacetime conditions, that veterans be given full employment and social security, and that small industries be promoted and large industries be decentralized.

Other objectives were a six-hour work day with retention of the present standard of living, retention of the armed services with larger organizations than before the outbreak of war, a preference in employment for veterans and compulsory development of properties which might be kept undeveloped for speculative purposes.

As compensation for war veterans, the report recommended a bonus for each soldier, training allowances, if required in addition to pension, basic service pay until re-established, priorities for those establishing or reestablishing themselves in business and more adequate preparations for land settlement.

Establishment of veterans' homes across Canada, equal education opportunities in all parts of Canada and federal grants to increase teachers' salaries were other recommendations.

Bill to Provide Vote for Forces Given First Reading

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons Thursday night gave first reading to a bill providing for voting by members of the armed services at home and overseas in wartime general elections and for proxy voting on behalf of prisoners of war and service personnel interned in neutral countries.

The bill was sponsored by State Secretary McLarty and follows recommendations of a special committee on service voting. It contained amendments to the Elections Act.

It would extend the franchise to Indians and other persons disfranchised by reason of race who have served or are serving in the present war. This was also done with respect to those who served in the First Great War.

Persons of Japanese racial origin would in effect, be disfranchised in all parts of Canada. Previously they were disfranchised only when living in a province where they were barred by law from voting at provincial elections as in British Columbia.

In order to allow time for the counting of service votes along with civilian votes in each constituency returning officers would be directed to add up the votes cast not earlier than the eighth day after polling.

EARLIER NOMINATION
To allow time for the nomination of candidates' names to service voters, official nomination day would be fixed as the 28th day before polling day. Previously, in most constituencies it was one week before polling and two weeks in a few constituencies.

In the war service voting regulations attached to the bill all men and women members of the armed forces and the merchant navy, including those under 21, who are British subjects and were residents of Canada prior to service, would be entitled to vote.

The group also includes members of the corps of Canadian Fire Fighters and persons engaged outside Canada in connection with Canadian forces under Red Cross or St. John Ambulance Association auspices.

Persons serving outside Canada who are British subjects, resided in Canada before taking up their duties and are 21 years of age who are with Canadian Legion War Services, the Y.M.C.A., Knights of Columbus, Canadian Army Huts or Salvation Army Canadian War Services, are listed as war service electors.

ABSENTEE RESERVE VOTE
Provision is made for members of reserve army units absent from their ordinary place of residence undergoing training to vote as war service electors. They must be at least 21 years of age.

Canada is divided into voting territories for war service votes and provision is made for territories outside Canada. Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are made a territory with headquarters at Edmonton and British Columbia with headquarters at Vancouver.

The United Kingdom will be another with headquarters at London, and Newfoundland with headquarters at St. John's. If at the time of an election forces are in other countries where their votes can not be collected conveniently at any of these headquarters other territories may be established by order-in-council.

The regulations also make provision for the appointment of special returning officers and scrutineers for each territory. Votes will be taken in units before commissioned officers appointed for the purpose by commanding officers.

The prisoners of war voting regulations require the chief electoral officer to obtain a list of Canadian prisoners and notify each returning officer of the next of kin of prisoners who were resident in his constituency. The returning officers then will be required to issue proxy certificates to these next of kin who then will vote on behalf of the prisoners.

Gen. de Gaulle
To Visit Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he is expecting a visit from Gen. Charles de Gaulle of the French National Committee of Liberation.

Mr. Roosevelt told a news conference he had sent word to Gen. de Gaulle, who now is in London on the invitation of Prime Minister Churchill, that he would be glad to see him this summer and suggested two dates between June 22 and 30, or between July 6 and 14.

Early this week, the President said, Vice-Admiral Raymond Fernald of the French navy visited him and asked if the President would be willing to receive Gen. de Gaulle. The admiral now is en route to deliver the President's message to Gen. de Gaulle. Mr. Roosevelt said he had heard nothing further.

Canadians Find Morale Of French Coast People High

By MAURICE DESJARDINS
SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—The most surprising thing to Lieut. W. H. Naylor of Toronto as he inspected the Canadian beachhead area in France was to see glass still in the windows of the adjacent town.

A few hours after returning from the beachhead Naylor, who led an infantry platoon in the Sicilian campaign, told his story of the invasion. He will be returning to the front Saturday to resume his duties as public relations conducting officer.

"My first surprise was to see most of the houses still habitable," he said. "There still was glass in the windows. On the beaches where the Canadians landed, I didn't see a single crater."

"In my opinion, it pretty well boils down to an infantry show. The infantry really had to take that first line."

DEAD GERMANS
The remaining pillboxes were tremendous affairs, the size of a big house with concrete 10 and 12 feet thick. They had not been completely knocked out by our bombers but considerably softened up. In some of them the Canadians found Germans dead apparently from concussion.

"When it was found they (the pillboxes) were not all completely destroyed by bombing, they had to be taken singly by the infantry."

"I had been told before I went over that civilians all had been evacuated. If they had they sure must have found a way to come back to their homes, for those I saw seemed to have been living in the homes. Their morale was high and I must say they appeared to me a very brave people, not like the Sicilians of Messina, for instance, who hid in mountain tunnels."

"The French I saw had dug slit trenches in their own backyards."

"From the first day they were ready to do business—to sell chickens, eggs and wine to the invading troops."

"Our people had done a superb job of silencing the coastal batteries. Only the odd shell—the very odd one—fell among our ships in the morning. We weren't bothered at all by shell batteries. In a little town on the coast one of our Canadian medium artillery units has set up its batteries and is firing inland."

OFFERED WINE
TORONTO (CP)—Matthew Halton, CBC war correspondent with the invasion forces, told in a broadcast from overseas of being offered a bottle of "old French wine" by a little old French woman whose home had been smashed by Allied bombings only a few hours before.

She told him she had saved the bottle for the day when she would be freed from German rule.

"We knew you were coming today when we heard the noise of the guns and your bombs and shells started bombing our village and knocking down our houses," she said.

Many of the residents of the little village wept when they saw the Allied troops marching through, Halton said. They had saved gifts and part of their rations to give the Allies.

Canadian Guns, Tanks Beat Off German Tanks

By ROSS MUNRO

WITH CANADIAN FORCES IN FRANCE (Delayed-CP)—The Canadians are bracing themselves for German counterattacks on this Normandy beachhead and in the last 24 hours have met several German armored and infantry thrusts aimed at probing the perimeter.

The Germans are sending in 35 tanks at a time and Canadian infantry dug in deeply on the slopes are holding them off with strong support from our own tanks and massed artillery.

From one position the Canadians can see the Germans milling around to the south as they assemble for new efforts. Allied planes have been hitting these concentrations hard.

On another part of the front a roaring tank vs. tank battle raged for nearly three hours yesterday (Wednesday) as Canadian tanks and infantry prevented the German battle group from seriously penetrating the perimeter.

'Other Mistakes,' Says Churchill

LONDON (CP)—A statement in the House of Commons Thursday that the British shipbuilding industry suffered after the last war because German merchant vessels were acquired by English shippers for less than building costs, brought from Prime Minister Churchill: "I am sure the mistakes of that time will not be repeated. We shall probably make another set of mistakes."

Canada Plans to Sell After War Supplies Worth $4,000,000,000

OTTAWA (CP)—Between $3,000,000,000 and $4,000,000,000 worth of war equipment and supplies may come up for sale when the war is over, Munitions Minister Howe told the Commons Thursday night.

With many of their constituents interested in buying jeeps, and other items from government war stores, members perked up their ears when Mr. Howe introduced a bill to give statutory incorporation to the War Assets Corporation, already in existence by order-in-council.

The corporation will have the job of getting rid of the things the government does not want when the war is over, but Mr. Howe gave definite indication he does not plan a rummage sale. The articles and materials will be sold in an orderly way and at prices in line with their value and with business practice.

He also told the House the material would be sold either as scrap or as reconditioned machinery. It would not be put on the market in a condition of disrepair.

A gentleman's agreement had been reached between Canada and the United States to the effect that neither country would dump its surplus war equipment in the other, Mr. Howe said, adding the agreement was between the disposal agencies of the two governments.

I fully anticipate similar arrangements will be made with other countries which have similar problems, the minister said. Provincial governments would have first priority on road building material and equipment. Municipalities would be given second priority, Mr. Howe said.

The price would be the same to all, no matter what priority they held. Freight rates were being studied to see if the surplus equipment could be sold at a uniform price across the country.

SIZE OF NAVY

Navy Minister Macdonald said he could give no further information at this time on how big a navy Canada would maintain after the war.

Answering Howard Green, P.C., Vancouver South, Mr. Macdonald said that during examination of his war estimates he had "intimated there was authority from the cabinet to have a navy of some 8,000 to 9,000 men after the war." He said he could add nothing to his earliest statement.

Gordon Grayson, Progressive Conservative House leader, said he supposed the size of the navy would depend on "how far Canada commits herself in connection with the world organization with respect to an international police force."

Mr. Macdonald said he "fancied" that would have some bearing.

The $3,600,000,000 war appropriation bill was passed through second and third readings. The annual bill authorizing the Canadian National Railways to borrow money went through second reading and bills providing for farm credits and service voting in Canada and overseas went through the resolution and first reading stages.

CUT MACHINERY COST

On the Farm Credits Bill, which authorizes a partial guarantee to banks on loans made to farmers for development and improvement of their farms and stock, Finance Minister Ilsley said the government hoped it would have the effect of lowering the price of farm machinery.

Several members referred to evidence before a previous farm implements inquiry to the effect the price of machinery was inflated by the costs of implement companies in financing credit to farmers and in collections. They suggested the implement companies would be relieved of these costs if farmers financed their purchases through the banks on the 5 per cent loans contemplated in the bill.

Justice Minister St. Laurent told the House the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Quebec provincial police and the Montreal municipal police were investigating the causes of recent street fights in Montreal and district between "zoot-suiters" and service personnel.

Federal Purchase Of Farm Surpluses Proposed By Gardiner

SOUTHEY, Sask. (CP)—Authority for federal government purchases of agricultural surpluses, associated with a floor under farm prices already announced as government policy, will be recommended in legislation to be presented to the Commons, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in an address here Thursday night.

The minister detailed federal government proposals to ensure farm security after the war when he spoke at a provincial election campaign meeting in support of Dr. Henry Mang, Liberal candidate in Last Mountain.

Mr. Gardiner reviewed government steps already taken in sales of Canadian products under long term contracts to give the assurance of markets at fair prices to the farmer. He said arrangements covering farm prices had been made under authority granted the federal government by the War Measures Act, which would lapse six months after the war ended.

With the act no longer operative, the Dominion would lack the authority it now has over prices and they would be more the responsibility of the provinces. However, he intended to introduce legislation covering floor prices as soon as he returned to Ottawa, which probably will be after the provincial election June 15.

GOVT. WILL PAY

"If you can sell at present levels, all right. If not, the government will buy the surplus at fair prices. The government then will have the surplus and if anyone in Canada needs it, he can get it for what he can pay. If China needs it, the same thing will apply. The difference between the price paid the farmer and the price the customer is able to pay will come out of the treasury of Canada."

Under existing mutual aid arrangements, the United Kingdom, Russia and other nations did not pay in full for materials and food required from Canada. Under the proposed authorization for purchases of surpluses, all the people would contribute in providing food where it was needed and assist the farmers in re-establishing themselves.

"Mr. Winch (Harold Winch, British Columbia C.C.F. leader), says he does not believe in national socialism," said Mr. Gardiner.

The other type is international socialism, which is communism."

Two-thirds of the people in Canada did not live on farms and if a C.C.F. federal government were elected the majority group would demand socialization of land as well as industry, Mr. Gardiner said.

Dr. Mang said C.C.F. election proposals meant social ownership and control of natural resources. Even if M. J. Coldwell,

C.C.F. national leader, and T. C. Douglas, C.C.F. provincial leader, did not wish to have farms under state control, they would be forced to such action to carry out their program.

COLDWELL SPEAKS

SASKATOON (CP)—M. J. Coldwell charged in a Saskatchewan election address here Thursday night "there never has been a more unscrupulous and devastating political machine in the British Empire than the Saskatchewan Liberal machine."

"As I travel about, I see posters which say, 'Return Billy Patterson (Premier W. J. Patterson) and he will give you the same kind of government as you had before,'" he said.

"The day of the political heeler in Saskatchewan will be at an end if the C.C.F. is elected," Mr. Coldwell promised.

"I would sever my association with the C.C.F. if it were not so," he said.

Urged to Tag Beaver Pelts

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Demand for a system of tagging beaver skins as a method of protecting the beaver trapping industry was approved in a resolution passed by trappers gathered here at a meeting of the B.C. Registered Trappers' Association.

Guides, outfitters and representatives of district cattlemen attended the meeting.

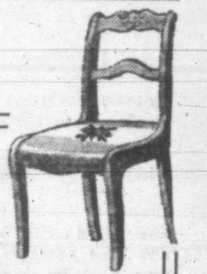

Trappers said many animals, especially beavers, faced extinction because of illegal trapping and trading.

It was suggested at the meeting that the penalty for fur stealing should be the same as the penalty for cattle stealing. A minimum of $500 or one year was asked for illegal possession or tagging of a pelt.

THE GERMANS KNOW NOW

NOW THAT THE INVASION OF CONTINENTAL Europe from the west has become a military operation, and may soon expand to incalculable proportions, it is interesting to note how "Die Wehrmacht," the official organ of the Reich's fighting services, viewed the prospect as recently as last April. Its observations obviously were part of the effort of the Herr Doktor Goebbels to quieten the fears which a large section of the public were manifesting as the "zero hour" approached.

The journal in question employed a good deal of background material in a full-dress morale-stiffening article which reminded its readers that Europe "has stood on the defensive against England throughout modern history." It then proceeded to compare the late Dr. Todt, who organized the defences of "Festung Europa," with Marshal Vauban—ordered by Louis XIV of France to carry out a similar job in the 18th century.

With that backdrop for its general thesis, "Die Wehrmacht" made the bold statement, and urged every Nazi to note it well, that "it is quite impossible for the enemy to land in Europe." Having said that, the journal, with the tone of an apology for betraying secrets, revealed in minute detail a supposedly invulnerable defence.

Military strategists naturally had their own views on this verbal build-up of the so-called west wall. It appeared to most of them more like an advertisement for the French Maginot Line of 1940; and they detected in the arguments advanced by the Nazi Journal a fear lest many of its more intelligent readers might doubt the efficacy of this elaborate and expensive system of defence. For other German newspapers had previously alluded to "second line defences well inland." To counter the memory of such references, however, "Die Wehrmacht"—in spite of its faith in the great array of concrete and metal along the shoreline—backtracked slightly with a suggestion that the invader might succeed "by some unforeseen circumstances" in making a landing somewhere along the coast and, "with the aid of his sea and air forces, penetrating the ring of fortifications."

What will happen then? asked "Die Wehrmacht." Well, the best the writer could do in reply to that question was to fall back on the fact that the invader would then be faced with the task of getting his supplies and reinforcements across the sea, and that the Germans would have time to bring up their reserve units. "Should this blow also be parried, the attackers have got to fight their way on through the heavily fortified rear zone. This will take so much time that the defence will be able to bring up their strategic reserves and prevent the landing from becoming an invasion."

One is constrained to suggest that as a piece of propaganda to pooh-pooh the idea of an invasion of the "west wall" it was clumsy to the nth degree. And two months after "Die Wehrmacht" published its assurance, the adventure doomed to failure before it started seems to be going fairly satisfactorily. But General Eisenhower and his commanders are under no illusion about the gigantic task ahead.

INSULTING THE ELECTORS

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S C.C.F. LEADER Harold Winch is campaigning in Saskatchewan and telling the electors there that "the governments of Canada today stand indicted before the people for building up countries we now have to overthrow." For good measure, he informed an audience on Wednesday that he "would like to tell Jimmy Gardiner (Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal Minister of Agriculture) to his face that capitalism has built up Fascism and totalitarianism—and Liberalism had its part in it."

These statements bear examination, not only for their relation to the issues with which five parties are regaling the people of the prairie province, but more especially because inherent in them is an implied charge that the good folk of Saskatchewan have deliberately, year after year, subscribed to a political philosophy which Mr. Winch argues has helped to produce the type of tyranny that the United Nations are now rapidly removing from the face of the earth. What other interpretation can be put on the dictum of the revolutionary Socialist from Vancouver?

Since the establishment of the province of Saskatchewan in 1905, Liberal governments have held office for 39 years, the only exception being in the Sixth Legislature—Sept. 9, 1929, to July 19, 1934—when a co-operative administration composed of Conservatives, Progressives and Independents was presided over by Hon. J. T. M. Anderson. But it is to be noted that of the 63 seats in that Parliament, 26 were occupied by Liberals and 24 by Conservatives, nine non-party members giving Mr. Anderson his working majority. Under the redistribution of seats applicable to the general election in 1934, however, the new membership of 55 was divided between 50 Liberals and five Farmer-Labor; and again, with the House still further reduced by three seats, the Liberals returned 37 in 1938 to the C.C.F.'s 11, Social Crediters and the Unity party dividing the remaining four equally between them.

Among the governments of Canada which Mr. Winch says stand "indicted before the people for building up countries we now have to overthrow," therefore, are all the governments which the majority of the people of Saskatchewan have elected since the establishment of the province when the century was five years old. We do not know how the electors now being instructed in their duties by imported C.C.F. speakers feel about the charge this impulsive young man from Vancouver levels at them. As for the part Mr. Gardiner has played in Saskatchewan politics—and he was the province's Premier twice—the present federal Minister of Agriculture can look after himself in any company.

AGAINST THIRD TERM

ONE HUNDRED AND FOURTEEN Republican Governors, Senators and Representatives have gone on record as opposed to third-term ambitions of any future Republican President. This sentiment may be strong enough to result in a G.O.P. platform commitment against nomination of any Republican chief executive for a third time. And it would seem to put the issue squarely on the basis of principle, thus making a much stronger appeal than mere denunciation of Mr. Roosevelt, because of his apparent intention to seek a fourth term.

As the Washington Post argues, it is possible the current pledges would wear very thin by 1952 if the Republican Party should elect its candidate in November. Anti-third-term movements in the past have been directed largely by minority parties. Supporters of a second-term President have usually been very quiet on the subject until the President has eliminated himself as a candidate. With so many Republicans committed in advance to respect for the two-term tradition within their own party, however, a G.O.P. President who might seek a third nomination would start under a severe handicap. And any party nominating a candidate for a third term after pledging itself to observe an eight-year limitation would lay itself open to charges of insincerity.

It would appear to most people, therefore, that if the Republicans so decide, they can make a substantial contribution to restoration of the two-term tradition, by binding their own party. It is by no means improbable that the Democratic Party will join in that policy when and if it finds itself outside of the White House looking in. For the followers of Jefferson up to 1940 were the most vociferous advocates of a two-term limitation. Here is one means, then, of forbidding third terms in the future without constitutional amendment. Such a policy might be broken down in either party in time of emergency, but the very fact of its existence would probably deter many future Presidents from seeking a third term and would put them under a handicap if they should attempt to violate the rules of their own party to perpetuate themselves in office.

REPUBLIC OF ICELAND

BRITAIN'S APPOINTMENT OF MR. E. G. H. Shepherd as special ambassador to attend the inauguration of the first President of the Republic of Iceland—to be held on June 17—reminds us that the people of that important island in the North Atlantic can look back on a democratic tradition that antedates Magna Charta. Their representative assembly, the Althing, was established more than a thousand years ago. It was therefore in keeping with its history and the political habits of its freedom-loving inhabitants that when the question of Iceland's political future was raised no decision was made until after the people had had a chance to vote on it. In particular they had to decide whether or not to retain their ancient connection with Denmark or go their own way as an independent republic.

As a matter of fact, Iceland has been a fully sovereign state since 1918, its only tie with Denmark consisting of the fact that the King of Denmark was also King of Iceland. It was a personal union. Finland had such a union at different times with Sweden and with Russia. Norway had it with Sweden prior to independence. And among the members of the British Commonwealth there is a similar relation based upon a common tie to the Crown. After Denmark was overrun by the Nazis in 1940, the Althing voted to cancel the union with Denmark and assume the functions of the monarch. By overwhelming vote of the Icelandic people, Iceland is now about to take the final step, namely, the proclamation of the Republic of Iceland. The friendship and good will of Canada go with the people of Iceland in their new venture.

DRIVING AND VISION

OUR NEIGHBOR'S BETTER VISION INSTITUTE is taking a severely critical look at proposed legislation for a system of express highways linking American cities. The highways would have a minimum speed limit of 75 miles an hour and the institute feels that many drivers have not good enough vision to operate cars at that speed. It cites the recent recommendations of Prof. A. R. Lauer of Iowa State College that restricted driving licenses should be given only to those having 20/30 vision in one eye, or 20/40 in both. For drivers with less than 20/100 vision, he would impose a speed limit of 25 miles an hour.

It seems to us that the institute is thinking along sensible lines. Most states now test drivers for mechanical ability, and test brakes for safety. In many states, too, "drunkometer" test findings are admissible as evidence. But it appears that too little care has been given to bad vision, which is certainly a cause of many accidents. A consideration of this added safety measure should be part of a general program aimed at reducing the heavy traffic accident toll when normal driving is resumed.

Our 60th Birthday

SIXTY YEARS AGO today the first issue of The Victoria Daily Times was published.

If it were not for the war—and especially as this is the time of invasion—the occasion might have been fittingly marked, for the Times is one of the veterans among newspapers of the Pacific Coast, as well as of western Canada.

However, it may be permissible here to recall that it was June 9, 1884 when the Times of Victoria first made its appearance on the streets of this city, then the growing headquarters of a prosperous sealing fleet. Every week-day since, with the exception of holidays, the Times has been published.

FIRST PRINCIPLES

IN ITS INAUGURAL editorial the Times set forth the principles which have guided those in charge of the paper during its three score years. That editorial said:

"The Victoria Daily Times enters upon the duties of its mission this afternoon with a conscious feeling of hope that the people of this province are ready to tender it such meed of patronage as it may deserve.

"It will try to acquit itself with fidelity to the trust with which it is charged.

"Devoted to the general welfare, it will be in full sympathy with the honest aspirations of the people, whose best interests it will study to comprehend and tenaciously watch.

"Whatever it may have to say on any subject, or which ever side it may deem proper to take on any question, will be as fairly stated as it can do so—and its opinion will be given in unmistakable language, plain and truthful, without distortion or any attempt at dissimulation, so that the meaning cannot be misconstrued or any uncertainty attached to it.

"It will always have the courage of its convictions; its course will be straightforward and fearless, governed by every consideration of duty and honor, and by what it believes is consistent with the character of the people.

"Its tone will be manly and dignified, and its business will be conducted with energy, system and courtesy.

"It will take deep interest in the progress of the young and their educational advancement.

"Nothing will be left undone in trying to produce a newspaper readable, reliable and worthy of the confidence and patronage of every intelligent person."

LEADERSHIP AND SERVICE

SUCH WAS THE program our founders set down for themselves and for whom the responsibility that was theirs has devolved.

These principles have guided the policies of the newspaper, establishing it firmly in a position of leadership and service in the life of the community.

PERSONALITIES

JOHN GRANT, a member of the B.C. Legislature for Cassiar was chief promoter of the Times. Hon. Robert Beavan, one-time Premier of B.C. was associated with him in the venture which was to prove so successful. Dr. G. L. Milne was one of the first shareholders.

Early in its life, the paper came under the sole control of William Templeman, who later was to become Senator and then Minister of Inland Revenue in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. Hon. Mr. Templeman's secretary in Ottawa for some years was B. C. Nicholas, who later was editor of the Times until his sudden death in his editorial chair in 1936. Mr. Templeman owned and personally managed the Times until his death in 1914. During his absences in Ottawa the paper was operated for him by the late John Nelson.

STAFF TRADITIONS

IN THIS WAR, as in the 1914-18 conflict, the Times has lost many of its staff to the armed services of Canada. Men have left their desks and their machines to don uniforms of navy, army and air force. Despite this lack of experienced personnel and despite paper and other shortages and constant floods of news, the Times has continued to publish, with as little inconvenience as possible, to its thousands of readers.

There are those, too, trained on the Times as reporters early in their lives, who are following in the footsteps of pioneer Times newsmen, and are making names for themselves covering the great news stories of the present world conflict. Others from the editorial rooms of this paper have become well-known Canadian literary figures because of their writings on Canada and Canadian life and problems.

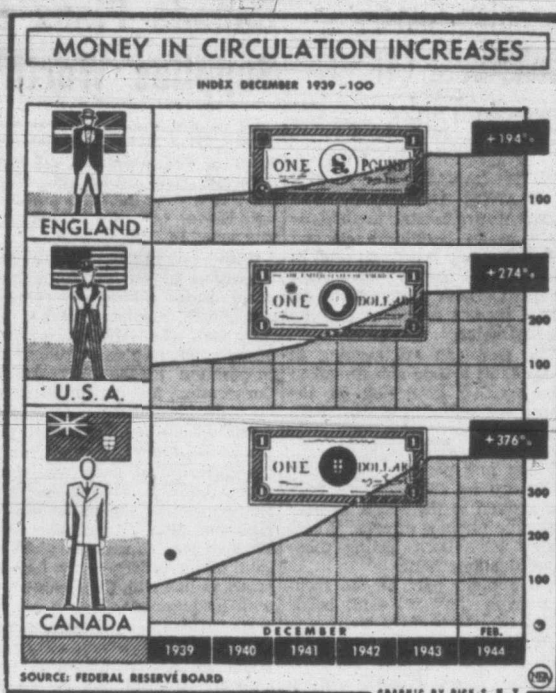

Throughout the years the Times has kept its employees for unusually long periods. Some of the workers on the paper have been with it more than 40 years. Many have been employed more than 20 years. The boys who, as teenagers, delivered the papers, now have positions in all branches of publication.

SERVING CITY AND LOWER ISLAND

ALL THE GREAT events of the last 60 years have been covered by the Times. Today, as during other crises since 1884, this paper is promptly bringing its readers news from all corners of the globe, as it is received over the wires of the Canadian Press, the Associated Press, a host of special writers and news and picture services.

Fast truck and motorcycle services carry the papers each afternoon into rural Vancouver Island, as far north as Nanaimo. Dozens of carriers distribute them to thousands of Greater Victoria homes, with speed and accuracy.

An executive is one who finds good men to run things and lets them alone. The other kind is not an executive but a fussy meddler.

Today's WAR NEWS Analysis

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

This is a difficult and dangerous stage of the invasion of the Cherbourg peninsula.

The superb Allied forces already landed are getting ahead with their job in business-like fashion, but the operation has been handicapped by bad weather. The Allies are not, as I see it, as far ahead in the initial drive as they would have been with smooth seas and fair skies.

This means the enemy has gained precious time in getting set for his all-out counterattack which is in the making. It means the Allies have their work cut out for them to get ready for this crucial onslaught, which Rommel is likely to speed up in view of the circumstances.

The first phase of the landing is completed, Supreme Allied Headquarters tells us. This is the "securing of a foothold and the defeating of the local German reserves." The invaders now are engaged in the second phase, which is a swelling battle with reserves that are being rushed from neighboring stations. The third phase will be Rommel's major attack.

What the Allies need most of all is a port through which could be poured the endless forces and the mountains of supplies which are vital for the breaching of Hitler's so-called Atlantic Wall.

The great port of Cherbourg—one of the world's finest—would be a godsend to the Allies right now, and the signs are that they are aiming at its early capture.

Here enters the element of time. The Allies will have to move fast in order to get set for the Nazi attack, which will come as soon as Rommel can figure out just what he's up against.

The Germans say several big Allied invasion fleets are ready to sail from various points in the British Isles. Some of them may be intended to feed the Cherbourg operation. Or they may be set for new amphibious assaults. That's the big worry of the Nazis right now.

NICE FELLOWS, THOSE JAPS

From New York Post

A civilian who recently escaped from the Philippines soon will have his full story released. It will include this report: A guerrilla was captured by the Japs and forced to dig his own grave. "You know you're going to die," the Japs told him. "He nodded. . . . And you'll be buried here," they added. . . . He nodded. . . . "Any final request?" the Japs asked him. . . . "I'd like to play the accordion you took from me," said the guerrilla. He received his accordion and began to play. The executioner's bullet finished him before the song was over. The song, "God Bless America."

The day after Mussolini's plot, an Italian general found that his army of 500,000 had dwindled to one private. This must have been a weight off the general's mind.

GRATITUDE

"D" Day was the most critical day of our generation. We are deeply indebted to the press, radio and newsreels which, since the beginning of the invasion, have kept us fully informed as to the movements of the Allied forces.

This, the greatest achievement in the gathering and dissemination of information ever recorded, makes us realize what our men faced when they landed, and more fully understand the depth of our obligation as individuals and organizations in backing up our armed forces.

Our prayers are with all who are participating in the liberation of Europe, and our sympathy goes out to the families of those who have made the supreme sacrifice.

$685.78 to Aid French Children

It was reported today the two evenings' entertainment to aid the starving children of France presented by the French-Canadian Club and L'Alliance France Libre with the Victoria Little Theatre realized the sum of $685.78. This is the net amount, all expenses having been met by private individuals.

This work is under the auspices of the Canadian Red Cross Society in Victoria and it has been unanimously proposed that this fund be left open for a few weeks for further contributions.

Donations should be addressed to "Aid the Children of France Fund," in care of Canadian Red Cross Headquarters, 602 Broughton Street, Mme. L. G. d'Estrube, organizer of the work, will answer phone calls for particulars at G 1298.

Airmen Benefit From Dance

A successful dance was held at the Crystal Garden Thursday when members of the Junior Auxiliary to the Air Services entertained a capacity crowd. Members of the committee were Misses Joan Futcher, Moyra Hacklett, Peggy Doran, Patricia Cox, June MacDonald and Mrs. Beth Scroggs. It was reported that the entire proceeds would go towards comforts for airmen in isolated districts on the west coast and men at the Convalescent Home at Colwood.

Social Situation

The situation: Your husband telephones to say he will be a few minutes late getting home to dinner.
Wrong way: Tell him that the meal you have on the stove will probably be ruined by the time he gets home.
Right way: Thank him for telephoning to let you know. (That is, if you want him to bother to let you know the next time he is going to be late.)

ROGERS-GAINER DELANY-BOYES

SO. Betty Marion Garner and SO. Bonita Louise Boyes, who went to school together in Chatham, Ont., were employed at the same place in Chatham, and joined the R.C.A.F. (W.D.) together in October, 1942, were brides at a double wedding Thursday evening in St. John's Church.

Rev. G. Biddle performed the ceremony which united SO. Garner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Garner, Chatham, and Flt. Lt. Wm. James Stanley Rogers, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers, Perth, Ont., also uniting SO. Boyes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Boyes, Chatham, and FO. William Francis Delany, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Delany, Montreal.

The brides wore similar floor-length gowns of white sheer with fingertip veils caught to wreaths of white flowers. SO. Garner was given away by Mr. G. Denbigh of Victoria, and carried a bouquet of white stocks and pink roses. Mr. R. G. Stoehy of Chatham gave SO. Boyes in marriage, and her bouquet was composed of white stocks and blue delphiniums.

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Denbigh, 1029 Belmont Avenue, where two wedding cakes centred the supper table. Later, Flt. Lt. and Mrs. Rogers left for a wedding trip to Ontario to visit their parents, while FO. and Mrs. Delany will spend their honeymoon on the mainland.

MAZE-DAY

Rev. F. Pike officiated at the wedding ceremony in St. Luke's Church Thursday evening, when Laurin Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. S. Day, Doncaster Drive, became the bride of Cpl. Anton Robert Maze, R.C.A., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Maze, Regina.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a French-dressmaker suit with nigger brown suede accessories. Her corsage bouquet was of white gardenias.

Miss Dorothy Day, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid and

SELFISH BOY FRIEND

Dear Miss Dix: I have a boy friend who has been very attentive for the past five years. During that time he has never approached the subject of marriage, nor has he once taken me out to dinner, or to a picture show, or to any gathering with friends. He is in my home almost every evening.

I cannot quite understand his attitude, but I have grown very fond of him. However, I feel that perhaps it would be best for both of us if he discontinued his attentions. What would be your advice to me?

A READER.

Answer: I cannot understand why a girl of your intelligence does not realize that the man has no matrimonial intentions whatever, so far as you are concerned. He is merely making a convenience of you and your house, and he is selfishly sacrificing you to his own pleasure, because he knows well enough that he is keeping you segregated from the kind of men who are looking for wives.

Furthermore, your deadbeat gentleman friend must be the champion tightwad as he doesn't even stand you the price of a dinner or a ticket to the movies. My earnest advice to you is to rid yourself of such an incubus as soon as possible. In courtship the gambler's motto "put up or shut up" is the rule.

Decorating will be done by the members Monday, and flowers for corsages should be brought to the hall on Tuesday. Flags are needed for decorating. At 8 the members attended church for an intercession service conducted by the Rev. Wm. Askew, returning to the hall to hold elections. The following were elected: Patron, Dean Elliott; chaplain, Rev. Askew; vice-president, Audrey Harness; secretary, Lorna Le Gallais; treasurer, Val Stewart; group leaders, Audrey Grey, Margaret McCulloch and Bernice Hughes; Local Council representatives, Marion Holt and Rose Clarke; welcome and welfare, Rita Gibson; Sunday evening convener, Jean Conway; Helen Greaves and Doris Turner; A.Y.P.A. Monthly Magazine convener, Alice Comber; service extra convener, Joyce Dixon; envelope secretary, Annie Collins; publicity secretary, Norah Hughes; gym convener, Ron Allen; corporate Communion breakfast convener, Marion Griffin; and bulletin convener, Nina Mitchell. Wednesday the Penny Midway, in conjunction with the Cathedral garden party, will be held in the hall, afternoon and evening. Installation of officers will take place at 7.30, June 21, followed by a beach party. Sunday evening fellowship hour will be continued through the summer, as will corporate Communion and breakfast on the third Sunday of each month.

St. John's A.Y.P.A.—Members attended prayer service in the church at their last meeting. The A.Y.P.A. will entertain the congregation Wednesday with a garden party at the rectory in the form of a "Victory Carnival." The affair will start at 7.30 and a musical program will be presented by members. Games and stalls will add to the entertainment. Tuesday will be work night for the garden party.

Career Women Need Flexible Outlooks

WINNIPEG (CP)—It's no fun being a woman in a predominantly male field, says Dr. Evelyn Burns of Washington, D.C. One of the nations leading economists, English-born Dr. Burns speaks from long experience when she says discouragement is the main dish on the menu the first few years of a woman's career.

"You have to have the temperament of an India rubber ball," she said. "If you're able to bounce up again after the first knock you'll make the grade." Born in London, England, Dr. Burns is a graduate of the London School of Economics and came to America on a Rockefeller fellowship in 1926. After lecturing at Columbia University in New York she was selected as one of a committee on economic security to draft the National Security Act. Later, as a member of the National Resources Planning Board she compiled a report often referred to as "The American Beveridge Plan."

Dr. Burns is a firm believer in careers for women but if you intend to combine marriage and a career "look out for an understanding, tolerant man."

"It's undoubtedly a strain on a man to have a professional wife but it can be worked out successfully."

Postwar employment for women depends on whether we solve our full employment problem, she said. "We must have a chance to keep on with our jobs to show we are really capable of doing them."

BUSY BACTERIA PRODUCE TWO KINDS OF INFECTION

By MARY BEARD

Science has taught us that there are many kinds of bacteria living everywhere about us—in the air, the water, the ground, in plants and animals, and even in our own bodies. Many of these bacteria are useful to man in the business of living. Others are classed as enemies, and we must constantly wage war against them, because they are responsible for many of the diseases of both man and animal.

There are about two dozen kinds of bacteria that are known to cause human disease. We hear them commonly spoken of as germs. They have their own peculiarities about the way they attack the body. Some prefer one kind of tissue and some another. Others are not very particular and will thrive anywhere.

MAY BRING DISEASES

Some germs enter through the body openings, particularly through the nose and throat. Many communicable diseases are caused by germs that attack in this way. When we have reason to believe that germs have gained entrance and are actively at work, we say the individual is "infected." Thus, we may speak of a throat infection, or an upper respiratory infection—meaning an infection of upper respiratory organs, which are the nose, throat and bronchial tubes, roughly speaking.

Some germs enter the body through a break in the skin or mucous membranes and attack the tissues at that point. When the white blood cells, which are a part of the body defences, surround the invading germs and keep them from going any further, we say the infection is stopped. Examples of localized infection are boils and styes. If the body defences are not strong enough to stop the germs, and they get into the blood stream and travel to other parts of the body, we say the infection is generalized. This is the condition commonly called blood poisoning.

Land Girls Plow English Fields

A SOUTH COAST VILLAGE, England (CP)—Like a great, smooth-flowing river, Allied planes roar ceaselessly over the "white cliffs of Dover" in the bright sunshine while down below, hardly lifting their heads, farmers and Land Army girls toil to produce food for civilians and the vast military forces now crowded on this tight little island.

The Land Army girls in khaki breeches and grass-green sweaters break the centuries-old turf atop the white chalk cliffs for cultivation while the land shakes under them with vibration from Allied bombs across the Channel. One girl drives a heavy tractor. The even pattern of her furrows is broken at one corner of the field by a giant searchlight and its crew. At another there are anti-aircraft units.

Invasion or no invasion, the land must be tilled for. Front-line country though it is, Kent farmers have increased their wheat acreage by almost twice the average for the rest of Britain. Cattle have been increased by 16.5 per cent.

Dusty convoys of camouflaged tanks and guns wind endlessly through the narrow country lanes, where the spring hedgerows have never been more beautiful. Red Cross ambulances stand under the trees of an orchard heavy with bloom. Bronzed American soldiers from the farm belt lean from jeeps to discuss war crops.

REFUSED TO START

TORONTO (CP)—Careless Knight, a five to one shot and second choice in the third race at Dufferin race track, Thursday refused to enter the starting gate and track stewards ordered him withdrawn from the race.

Wagers on Careless Knight were not refunded. There is a track rule that once a horse is on the track he cannot be scratched and wagers do not have to be refunded.

Final arrangements for the annual silver tea to be held June 17 from 3 to 6 at the home of Mrs. A. H. Cox, 950 Joan Crescent, were made at a meeting of the Junior Auxiliary to the B.C. Protestant Orphanage, Miss Jessie Cromack presiding. Miss Jessie McDowell and Miss Margaret McMartin will visit the home with birthday gifts this month. The garden contest for the children will be judged on June 20 and prizes will be awarded the winners. A gift of linen was donated to the linen shower held at the home. Six chairs are being made for the children's nursery. Miss Joan Forrest and Miss Dorothy Temperest were welcomed as new members.

Canada to Call On More Women to Work Says Minister

OTTAWA (CP)—Faced with a need of 196,000 workers in industry and other civilian occupations Labor Minister Mitchell has announced a broadening of the Selective Service program to fill manpower needs.

Highlights of the program were given the Commons Thursday afternoon. Later, in the evening, Mr. Mitchell broadcast the plan.

In his radio address the minister said that toward the end of May employment and selective service offices had vacancies for 100,000 men and 41,000 women required by high priority industries and 55,000 persons sought by industries in lower priorities, including some essential services.

In addition to these manpower needs the armed forces required "a constant stream of additional men."

In spite of the enlistment of more than 750,000 in the armed forces the working population had been increased by more than 500,000.

"As far as the forces are concerned, most of the men needed will have to be withdrawn from industry," he continued. "The means replacements will have to be arranged."

"On the civilian side, we will have to call still further for women who are without family responsibilities to engage in industry, either full time or part time. We can use thousands for part-time work. Some of the needs can be met through a more general use of women in many branches of industrial work."

WORKERS PLACED

Earlier Mr. Mitchell had told the Commons of the placement of workers laid off recently in an aircraft parts plant at Edmonton.

He said 624 men and 523 women had been laid off between Jan. 3 and May 24. A considerable number were placed in the Canadian Car plant at Fort William, Ont., and 220 had joined the armed forces. Some had returned to farms.

Goose Bay Airport Described By Carr

Discovery, construction and operation of the Goose Bay Airport in Labrador was described for members of the Rotary Club at a luncheon in the Empress Thursday by Lt.-Cmdr. W. J. G. Carr, R.C.N.R., author of "By Guess and By God," who gave an address on "The Navy."

"When I left Goose Bay last November the job was finished and that was the reason that National A.R.P. regulations were relaxed," he told the audience as he said Canada knew she had to defend herself.

Lt.-Cmdr. Carr said that in eight great wars the Empire had been in since 1340, the merchant marine had to bear the brunt of the first few years of each war.

"Our unpreparedness in this war cost the British merchant marine 33,500 casualties of which number 29,200 are known to be dead. That is the price they paid to carry our goods and to convey our troops," he said.

"War is a natural condition of mankind. Why people insist on cutting down the armed forces of the Crown as soon as a technical knockout has been made, I don't know," said the speaker. "The men over there will win the war but the people at home must learn to win the peace and put it on a firm foundation."

Seattle Wins Fourth Extra-Inning Affair

The Coast League baseball pennant chase became a fairly close five-way affair after last night's upsets which saw the Sacramento Solons knock San Francisco out of second place and the San Diego Padres take a double bill from Hollywood.

Portland defeated Los Angeles 3 to 2.

Seattle, winning a 10-inning fray from Oakland 9 to 8, moved into the second place spot, with San Francisco third and Hollywood fourth by .001 percentage point ahead of San Diego. Only three games separate the leading Portland Beavers from the Padres.

The Solons staged a ninth inning rally which brought in nine runs for their 10 to 6 victory over San Francisco, with 14 batters parading in the big inning.

The Los Angeles Angels were leading Portland 2 to 1 up to the eighth when two errors by the Angels' infield permitted two Beavers scores to cross the plate.

Seattle spotted Oakland eight runs in the first three innings, then picked up four in the fourth, two more in the fifth and one each in the sixth and seventh to tie the count. The Rainiers won in the 10th inning after two were out when a wild throw to first permitted a runner to score. The contest was the fourth straight at the Seattle park which has gone into extra innings.

Clint Hufford, 17-year-old Hollywood pitcher, held the San Diego Padres to five hits in the opening game of the double bill, but lost the contest when he tossed the ball into left field in the fifth inning and allowed two Padres to score. The final count was 3 to 2. Chet Johnson limited the Stars to five hits in the nightcap.

Leave it to Bucky Walters and Cincinnati Reds will ruin St. Louis Cardinals' dreams of a third straight National League pennant. Walters has handed Cardinals three straight setbacks by scores of 1 to 0, 2 to 0 and 2 to 1. Not until the ninth frame of last night's 2 to 1 tilt in Cincinnati were the Cards able to break a string of 30 scoreless innings against Bucky's effective tossing. Walters thus became the first big league hurler to notch a ninth victory.

Since 1935 the Yankees have been home run kings of the American loop, but the blow that built the big stadium in the Bronx has been backfiring against the world champs. In 42 games only 20 Yankees have homered as to 27 by the opposition, the latest being Roy Partee's first round tripper of the season in the last of the ninth yesterday to give Boston an 8 to 7 twilight edge.

Washington pulled out of the cellar on George Myatt's triple scoring Johnny Sullivan and Mito Candini in the 11th for a 7 to 5 margin over Philadelphia after the A's had tied with three in the ninth.

Connie Mack's men tumbled all the way into the basement when Cleveland bunched three hits in the fifth to down the St. Louis Browns 4 to 3 in a night game. Doubles by Mike Rocco and Roy Cullenbine provided the winning margin.

Shortstop Eddie Stanky, recently acquired from the Cubs, bowed in as Brooklyn shortstop to steady the Dodgers infield in a double triumph over the Phils 6 to 3 and 8 to 1.

Bill Voiselle grabbed his sixth victory in 13 starts as the New York Giants shaded Boston 6 to 4, and Chicago rioted with eight runs in the second, but had to pressressing to trim Pittsburgh 10 to 6.

Sam Byrd Fires Sizzling 66 To Lead Golf Play

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Sam Byrd of Redford, Mich., the former New York Yankee outfielder, batted his way around the tough Torresdale-Frankford Country Club course in 66 strokes Thursday—five under par—to take a two-stroke lead for the lion's share of the $17,500 war bond prize in the Inquirer Invitational 72-hole golf tournament.

Byrd stopped at Birmingham, Ala., on his way here, to see his father, who is seriously ill, and played without a practice round, but you couldn't tell it from the way he rapped in putting in scoring seven birdies and missing par only twice. Six of his sub-par holes came on the back nine as he blazed home in a course-record 31.

His bogies came on a three-putter and on a muffed chip shot, but the rest of the way he was on the line and sank putts from four to 20 feet for his birdies. Byrd won the New Orleans and Greensboro opens this year and the Victoria open in Chicago in 1943.

In second place, with 68, was Bob Hamilton of Evansville, Ind., winner of the North-South open at Pinehurst. Bud Lewis of Oakland, Pa., Philadelphia-open and P.G.A. king, was third with 69.

Deadlocked at 70 were Harold (Jug) McSpaden, heavy money winner of the winter tour, from Philadelphia, and Crisp Wood of Mamaroneck, N.Y., duration national open champ. McSpaden and Byron Nelson of Toledo, Ohio, 1939 open winner and 1940 P.G.A. ruler, were still favored to take the main share of the war bonds. Nelson staying close with a par 71.

By PETE SAILAWAY

JUST THREE WEEKS from Saturday the ponies will be romping again in British Columbia. July 1 the racing season will be ushered in at the Lansdowne Park mile strip. After 42 days on the mainland the bang-tails journey across the gulf to provide us with 14 days of campaigning at the Willows in September.

THERE HAS BEEN little said about racing this year but it is high time it was brought out that over $230,000 will be distributed in purses during the 56 days running. With $600 minimum purses at Vancouver tracks and $400 minimum at the Willows the horse men will be running for the highest purse money ever offered in the history of British Columbia racing.

IT IS INTERESTING to note that the jockeys are going to benefit no little by the increased purses. The boys who spent their time booting home winners, will get $30 for winning mounts; $20 for a second; $15 for third and $10 for losing mounts on the mainland tracks. The rates will be somewhat lower for the Willows. In addition owners usually give a percentage to the riders for a winning ride. From reports there will be no shortage of riders with enough jockeys already assured for the opening seven days. With the close of the racing at Winnipeg another group of riders is certain to head for the coast.

IT WAS ANNOUNCED recently that saliva tests will be carried out at the Vancouver and Victoria tracks under the supervision of the R.C.M.P. Commenting on the new order, Wallace Kelk, turf critic of the Vancouver News-Herald, writes as follows:

AS A BODY, horsemen and breeders welcome the news that in future all saliva-testing will be undertaken by the R.C.M.P. This is something they have been wanting for year, but constitutional problems and high costs have stood in the way until now. The horsemen claim this should do away with much of the loose and nonsensical talk that has been all too prevalent about the doping of horses at local tracks during recent years. In the past the saliva-testing has been performed by one of the most eminent scientists in the Dominion, and the horsemen do not expect any material difference will show in future results. Contrary to what amounts to a popular supposition, there is no Canadian law that makes it imperative that saliva tests be taken on Canadian race tracks. The whole matter is left up to the local racing bodies. They have the tests taken for the public protection, and the movement to have the R.C.M.P. at the helm in this respect is one that should serve to inspire public confidence in our racing.

ONE OF our prominent local softball umpires came up with a prize ruling the other night. It was told me and tops anything I have ever heard of for an umpire taking it on himself to outrule the rule book. It seems a batter-knocked a ball down to the opposing first baseman who elected to touch the runner instead of going over and placing his foot on the bag. The base ump promptly ruled the base-runner out but our friend, who was working behind the plate, overruled his working mate, declaring the batsman safe at first. When questioned by the opposing team he gave this reason for his actions: "The first baseman should have touched his bag and not endangered the life of the runner by tagging him with the ball." This umpire should see the way some of those first basemen in the Coast League shove the ball into a base-runner in making a put-out. I would also like him to show me such a ruling in the rule book.

Would License Bookies

By SYD THOMAS

TORONTO (CP)—With the big slice that federal and provincial taxes are taking out of the betting pool at the race tracks these days, more and more loose money is being turned in the way of the bookmakers. That's the general opinion around the ovals, and it's a logical one.

When nearly a quarter of all money bet has to come out in taxes, that cuts into the eventual winnings of any lucky punter. But with the bookies, who bilthely operate without benefit of taxation, there's a chance to get a little more of your money back.

All of which has stirred up no end of discussion about the problem, with the suggestion that the entire book system should be "legalized" and placed on a firm foundation with licenses and taxes and all the other impediments of an established business.

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara suggests there is little hope of any action being taken along those lines for years to come, adding that he thinks the responsible bookies would welcome such a change, since it would allow them to come out in the open instead of continuing their present furtive methods.

Baseballs aren't any too easy to get these days, which makes a recent incident in the Vancouver Senior League a minor tragedy. During a game between Arrows and St. Regis, the batter sent a high infield pop fly that the shortstop camped under. But when still four or five feet above the fielder's head, the ball disintegrated, shedding its cover like a snake its skin, and the batter was safe.

INCIDENTALLY

The R.C.M.P. have taken over saliva testing of race horses at Vancouver tracks this summer as a result of representations by the S.P.C.A. There had been no complaint by anyone else under the old system, but with it in the hands of the mounties, the fans probably will feel more at ease.

Shepperton, Frank Schell, husky big racer, will carry 142 pounds in his next stint in the little Saratoga at Dufferin Saturday. And everyone is waiting to see how he will make out with the added impost. J. P. Fitzgerald in the Toronto Telegram predicts the weight won't stop the big fellow, but that when he finally is beaten it will be the accidents or mishaps of the racing game that do the trick.

Eagles-Navy Meet Tonight; Double Bill Saturday

With Ray Matland, their number one fliinger scheduled to take the mound, Eagles will be gunning for a victory over the Navy in tonight's senior ball game at Athletic Park. Play ball will be called at 6:30.

In his first appearance of the season Matland dropped a tough 1 to 0 decision to the Victoria Machinery Depot after a pitching duel with Tommy Musgrave.

Navy are expected to send Jimmy Ingamells in to handle their pitching chores. Rested up since beating the V.M.D. last Saturday the big right hander should be ready to try and stop the lodgemen.

Regular double bill will be played at the park tomorrow. In the afternoon at 2:30 the R.C.A.F. will engage the Army, with the Eagles and V.M.D. scheduled in the nightcap at 6:30.

Pair of Cricket Matches Tomorrow

Tomorrow afternoon's cricket matches will see the R.C.N. battle the Royal Navy at Macdonald Park and the Albions engage the Flyers C's at Beacon Hill Park. Both fixtures will start at 2:30.

Teams follow:

Royal Navy—Pieton Turberville, Baxter, Crossley, Wainwright, Jenner, Newby, Trimm, Smith, Wingfield, Clark, Blay.

R.C.N.—Gillman, Pugh, Chipman, Fox, Wood, Heaton, Dick, Webb, Bell-Irving, Barr, MacDonald.

Five C's—Attwell, G. Payne, J. Payne, Harper, Adie, P. C. Payne, Skillings, Shrimpton, Gardner, Anders and A. N. Other.

Lawn Bowling

A special match will be played at the Burnside Lawn Bowling Club, Sunday, June 11, starting at 2, to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the opening of the women's section. The game will be mixed rivits.

The usual mystery game will be held at Burnside tomorrow night, starting at 7:30.

In Cameron Nicol Cup games Victoria, West and Lake Hill scored wins while Victoria and Victoria West won Whitney Cup fixtures.

Navy-Tuckers Play Tie

In one of the closest, and fastest, senior A fastball games of the season, Navy and Tommy Tuckers failed to break a deadlock, after two extra innings, and finished up 0 to 0, before a good crowd at Athletic Park, last evening.

Featuring a pitcher's battle, Ross, Navy, and Billsborough, Tuckers, fought it out on dead even terms for the full nine innings. Both gave away five hits and two walks, with Ross striking out six to Billsborough's four. Tuckers booted a couple in the field, and Navy one. Two new faces were seen in the persons of Mickey Berry, speedy colored army boy, at short for Tuckers, and Hank Moncar returned to first base for the sailors for his first game of the year.

Both teams had scoring runners on the bags several times, but the hitters failed to come through in the clutch. In the second Tuckers had runners on first and second, but Finlay flew out to Patterson to retire the side. Again in the third wily Bryant, and Perkins getting "free passes," Ross McEllan popped up to catcher Jackson for the third out.

Navy responded in like manner in the third and fifth.

With the light falling both teams put on a fighting finish in the final innings. With two gone in the Navy ball, Tovey singled to centre, Wilson walked, and Graham struck out. For the Tuckers men Kennedy reached second on a roaring double through third, but waited patiently there while Johnstone and Finlay fanned to end the game.

Bob Whyte's Adverts, and the C.W.A.C.'s from the women's division performed in the opener with the Adverts leading by 6 to 2 when the game was called in the sixth.

The girls brought with them, in their first appearance at the ball park, a nice display of enthusiasm, curves, slacks, shorts and an outburst of temperament. The latter ended in the banishment of Rider, Army pitcher and first baseman, for smoking by Umpire Art Bird. In the sixth the army girls took their time in taking up their position on the field and umpire Bird called the game awarding it to the Adverts.

J. Mitchell and D. Mitchell composed the battery for the Adverts with Rider, Kennedy and McPherson working for the C.W.A.C. Adverts scored four runs in the fourth, featured by Dorothy Mitchell's three-bagger.

Short score for the men's game follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Navy	0	5	1
Tuckers	0	5	2

Batteries—Ross and Jackson; Billsborough and Kennedy.

Set Tennis Tourney

At an executive meeting of the C.P.R. Tennis Club it was decided to hold the annual championship tournament, commencing with the opening fixtures next Wednesday evening at 5:30. Entries will close at 6. Sunday, and the draw will be made for the first day. Daily schedule of matches will appear in the press and players are asked to watch for them.

QUOTES THE PRESIDENT
PRESIDENTIAL AGENT by Upton Sinclair.

NOVELIST UPTON SINCLAIR has made President Roosevelt a central character in this new novel and in the book the author quotes the President freely and directly. The novel published in fifth in Sinclair's series about Lanny Budd, fictional American internationalist.

Sinclair, in an author's note for readers, explained that he has had no contact with President Roosevelt for some years. Of the quotations, Sinclair wrote:

"The speeches attributed to the President represent merely the author's guesses as to his mind. The author hopes they are good guesses, but does not wish anyone to assume that he speaks for the President or is in a position to reveal his secret thoughts."

A CONFIDENTIAL AGENT

Lanny Budd in the novel was commissioned by the President to act as a confidential agent to find out what was happening in Europe in the years before the war.

Discussing the Spanish Civil War, Budd suggested to the President that the U.S. should help the Loyalists against Hitler and Mussolini-backed Franco.

After admitting it was one of the most painful decisions he had ever made, the President said he could not move faster than public opinion would let him. Sinclair wrote this exchange:

"Of course, Mr. President, but you can sometimes lead the people," said Budd.

"Up to a certain point but never beyond it," replied the President. "I can present them with only one or two ideas at a time."

The President then compared himself to a man driving three horses—the young and wild New Deal group, the "mushy" block of southern states, and "my Roman Catholic charger."

BUDD ATTACKS FRANCO LINE

"There are 20,000,000 Catholics in this country, and the great bulk of them think and vote as their church advises," Sinclair quoted the President. "That is especially true of those of foreign descent—Irish, Italians, Germans, Poles. They are strong in our great cities, New York, Boston, Chicago, St. Louis and San Francisco, and their votes determine any close election. They have been told that Gen. Franco is defending their faith from atheistic Reds."

"What they have been told is Franco propaganda, and mostly false," said Budd.

"That may be so—but will they believe it from a Protestant? I must have their support for our domestic program; so there I am," the President answered.

The novelist ended the President's fictional explanation at that point, but Lanny learned from a Prof. Alston that the heads of the hierarchy had come to Washington and "talked cold turkey," in other words, votes. They had said: "Either you keep arms from the Spanish Reds or else we defeat your party."

QUARANTINE POLICY IS BORN

In another part of the book Sinclair invented a conference between the President and Budd at which Roosevelt was persuaded to prepare his "quarantine" speech. This established a new foreign policy for America: quarantining aggressor nations. Budd helped type it.

"Get it to Gus" (Gen. F.D.R.'s bodyguard) hotel as soon as it is ready," the President is represented as having said. "I'll tell him to expect it. I think I'll use it in Chicago, where I'm scheduled to speak at the opening of the Outer Bridge Drive. How Bertie McCormick will foam at the mouth!"

"Don't lose your nerve and back out on me, governor."

"I'll probably change your text so that you won't know it, but the substance will be there," said the President. "I've had something of the sort in my noodle for a long time."

"I tell you in advance, nothing I have said in my entire life career has aroused such a fury of opposition as those half-dozen sentences will—and it won't be only among the Republicans!"

'GOD IS NOT MOCKED'

Another time Budd reported on the imminence of war in Europe. The President's face, which was usually so genial and smiling, had become somber, and the man . . . sat staring before him, frowning. "Do you know the Bible?" the President asked suddenly. "There are some words—I think St. Paul's: 'God is not mocked.'"

He continued: "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. I think that applies to nations as to individuals, Lanny. I don't attempt to guess how it is coming, but I refuse to believe that men can commit such crimes as the Nazis have committed, and not raise up some agency of justice against them. If it should appear that the American people have to shoulder that burden, I trust they will not shrink from it."

DOROTHY LIVESAY'S POEMS

Dorothy Livesay has collected into "Day and Night" (Ryerson, Toronto), the pick of her poems from 1934 to the present. Not only a modernist but also an avant-gardiste, her verse is sometimes enigmatic, but always intense, vital, original. Her words "beat out in space—distant drums under the hum of day."

TOMATOES

Very soon after tomato plants have been set out, with the use of a good vitamin-hormone material to avoid "check," the first flowers will appear just above the fourth leaf. One of the most constant complaints last year was that the first tomato flowers did not set fruit . . . which is a disappointment because these normally would produce very early fruits, probably in early August.

Did it ever occur to you to wonder why the tomato flower stems are shorter than the leaf stems? When tomatoes are severely pruned and many of the leaves removed, the natural shade which they would supply to their own flowers is lost.

Too early pruning is one of the most common nonfruit reasons.

When you tie the vines up to the stakes, be sure to use soft string or raffia. Tie lightly so as not to damage the vines. As each branch is tied, gently pull or turn it so that the leaves naturally fall to the outside and toward the sun.

Tomato blossoms are very sensitive when exposed to the hot afternoon sun and, although they turn away from it, often fall to set because of this lack of natural shade. Generally the first blossoms drop for this reason of exposure.

If possible, place the stakes on the west side of each tomato plant. Even the small amount of shade cast by the stake will make a noticeable difference in the number of fruits which set on each truss or plant.

Here is a success story from a man in Olympia that you can easily copy.

"I had staked and pruned my tomatoes but, although full of blossoms, they did not form tomatoes."

"I cut some large, fan-shaped fir boughs and hung them so as to keep the hot sun off the plants. The result was wonderful. The boughs were left on about two weeks. I now have the nicest tomatoes I have ever raised. I have counted 23 tomatoes on one branch."

In this climate we experience a very great fluctuation in temperature from day to night, at a time when the first flower buds are ready to set fruit. When buds drop off, the net result is a beautiful but fruitless vine. The flowers on any tomato plant are quite capable of setting each other.

To set fruit . . . shake the flower clusters during the warmest hour of the day. This shaking helps dislodge the pollen and helps self-fertilization.

The most effective way to set every flower on your tomato plants is to do the work by artificial means; that is, by using the fruitone plant hormone spray method.

Tests have proved that these hormones, when sprayed on each group of flowers as they open, will not only set every flower on the stem but in almost every case the fruits are solid meat and entirely seedless.

GARDEN PEAS

Right now in most gardens the peas, whether they be tall or short, are showing every sign of lots of flowers. As soon as the flowers start to show be sure to dust the vines thoroughly with a good insecticide.

PEA MAGGOT

When shelling green peas, you may often find the peas wormy. Several peas in a pod may have been eaten through and yet only one worm is found in the pod. When the peas are picked late they may have been affected but no sign of the worm is found in the pod.

An adult moth, which lays eggs on the vines, is a deep grey in color. It is only to be found flying during the warm part of the day and never at night like so many other moths. The moth is found in large numbers around plants that are in bloom. Nature seems to take care that the bloom of the pea and the moth both arrive at the same time. As soon as the moths arrive in numbers, they mate and quickly start laying eggs.

These eggs are laid on leaves, pods and flower stems, sometimes as many as 10 being found in one group, although most often the eggs are found singly. Immediately after the eggs are laid the moth dies.

In small gardens the moth may be kept away from the vines at flowering time by dusting the vines. Should pea vines shrivel immaturely and before the peas are picked, examine the root-stem just below ground with a glass. Minute white worms will be found to have "shredded" the vine root, leaving only the fibre. To prevent this, use the surface soil treatment, with naphthalene.

REMOVE VINES

All pea vines should be taken down just as soon as the peas are picked. Then the vines should be chopped up and spaded into the rows from which they grew, to serve as more soil humus. Failing this, the chopped vines should be placed in a garbage hole or compost heap, kept wet, and encouraged to rot and decompose quickly.

Garden pea vines which have been left to dry may still have a few pods on. These are a source of danger, for they are possible places where two insect pests, the pea weevil and the pea maggot, may remain and be carried over into your garden next season. These insects leave the plants and enter the soil to pupate for winter, only after the seed pods have ripened. So destroy the vines while they are yet green if possible . . . if too late for this, remember that they are a source of insect infestation every day they are left above ground. For safety's sake, to keep a clean garden for the neighbors as well as for yourself, don't allow pea vines to remain.

SLUGS IN CHERRY AND PEAR TREES

Generally in July but much earlier this year, there is appearing a little black, slimy insect on the leaves of certain trees. It is called the slug-worm and is generally found on pear, cherry and hawthorne trees.

Just about the time the leaves have attained full size, a little fly deposits one or more eggs on a leaf. This egg hatches out in the sun, into a very tiny, almost invisible, yellow slug-like insect.

It uses the skin and meat of the leaf for its food and very quickly skeletonizes a whole leaf. While feeding and growing larger it turns black and sheds numerous skins and develops into what looks like a tiny black slug with an enlarged head.

When full grown it is about the size of a broken lead pencil point. This pest eats and swallows the parts of the leaf it uses for food. Thus it may be controlled by either a stomach poison or a good contact spray. It is most vulnerable during a hot, dry afternoon while the sun is out. The best spray materials to use are the Roteone-pyrethrum compounds or a good summer oil.

Amateur Gardener

By E. L. F.

Last night, when we were putting up the strings for our runner beans, we thought of all kinds of things you might wish to know about them. That is, if you'd like really heavy picking.

Very often runner-bean seedlings look rather anaemic when they first come through the ground. The best way to change them into rich, living green and give the seedlings a push into vigorous growth, is to water each plant, without touching the leaves, with two pints of sulphate of ammonia solution (one-half ounce in a gallon of water).

When the plants are 12 inches tall, take out the growing points and retain on each the strongest resulting side shoot. You will get a much better crop than you would if you depended on the weaker first-formed stem.

Should any plant not cling to its own string or stake, but cross over to that of its neighbor, guide it back gently and train it in the way it should go.

If when the buds show, some of them drop off, water the plants with sulphate of iron solution (one-quarter ounce in two gallons of water, and one and a half pints a plant). Iron is a wonderful tonic for plants as well as humans. It will prevent bud-dropping and give you full bean clusters.

Sometimes black fly, that scourge of the broad beans, takes to feeding on runners also, usually on the under leaf-surfaces where you don't see it. Make a practice of looking under the leaves and if you see this pest, kill it promptly either by the good old thumb and finger method or by spraying.

After the buds form, if you notice some of them turning yellow, it is a sign of over-leafiness. The pods can't get sufficient air, they may even be practically in the dark. In this case, you must carefully remove sufficient leaves to let in air and light. Spray the plants with clear water on warm evenings and you'll give them a wonderful lift.

Feed runner beans generously.

If you go in for it at all, start when the pods are nicely set and at 10-day intervals until the end of the season, use dried-blood manure solution (one-half ounce in a gallon of water) or quarter strength liquid manure. Both at 12 pints per yard of row, a dose.

Watch your stakes. Runner beans carry a big weight and unless they are well supported, serious damage can occur on a really windy day. When growth reaches the top of your stakes, remove the growing points and concentrate all the energy of the plants into finishing what then should be a really fine crop.

FLOWERS

When your Oriental poppies finish blooming, cut off the flower stems level with the plant tops, remove the old basal leaves and feed weekly with quarter-strength liquid manure (six pints per plant per dose). The chances are that if you keep this feeding up you'll have a second flowering later on.

Every ten days from now to the end of the season feed your sweet peas with quarter-strength liquid manure and, if you are lucky enough to have it, half-strength soot water, using them alternately. One gallon per yard row is the dose. This treatment helps to give you a grand display of bloom.

Faded viola and pansy blooms should be removed every week, otherwise the plants will soon cease to flower. Feed them weekly and alternately with half-strength soot water (if you have it), six pints per yard of row per dose, and lime water (one ounce in a gallon of water, and four pints per yard row, per dose) until the end of the season, and your pansies and violas will be something to boast about.

7 Bush Fires Keep Firemen Busy

Seven grass and bush fires, breaking out all within 45 minutes, gave city firemen a busy time today.

The first call was to Beacon Hill Park at 9.40 where firemen found three fires had broken out in the same district.

At 10.06, another call was received, this time to the Reservoir. At 10.15 they were called to Vista Heights and Cook Street. At 10.19, there was an outbreak at Montrose and Cook, and at 10.22, they received their last call to a blaze at King's Road and Cook.

Four fire wagons were used, one of them doubling up to take two calls.

James Bay Boys Show Largest Egg

Allen Beanlands, 46 Montreal Street, and Tony Browning, 244 Simcoe Street, are proud boys today. They are showing the largest hen's egg of the season in James Bay—at least, it is 3½ inches long, 1½ inches wide, with an 8-inch circumference measured on which duty had not been paid.

Cpl. J. Watson, R.C.M.P., stated he had searched Mermelstein's room and found the cigarettes. The accused had admitted they had been brought into Canada without legal authority, Cpl. Watson said.

Mermelstein said he was being discharged from the navy because of poor eyesight, and having the cigarettes on board with him, decided to take them with him.

Magistrate Hall said, in view of the circumstances, he would impose the minimum penalty.

Two men, David Patterson and R. D. Cousins, were each fined $5 or 2 days for failing to attend a military parade.

Ten motorists paid fines totaling $25, one motorist paying two counts, for parking offences. Two others were fined for speeding.

David Mermelstein, naval rating, was fined $50 or, in default, one month in jail in city court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of having 4,500 cigarettes in his possession on which duty had not been paid.

Nanaimo Officers Coast Rangers Resign in Group

NANAIMO (CP)—Officers of the Nanaimo unit of the Pacific Coast Rangers have resigned and command has passed from Capt. Charles Stronach to Capt. Arthur Leighton, Nanaimo barrister and war veteran. The new staff will consist of Lt. W. Boyd, second in command, Lt. A. Lester and Lt. O. E. Roberts.

Resigning officers said they had volunteered for an emergency which they considered now had passed and they felt continuation of the present set-up an unjustified expense. They said they would be glad to reassemble in any crisis to serve when actually needed as volunteers.

Vancouver headquarters command declined to comment.

Outer Fabric Atlantic Wall Now Punctured

By DON CAMPBELL
ADVANCED HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED ASSAULT FORCE (Delayed; CP-Reuters)—Snipers' bullets whining, shells overhead, diving planes and the thunder of a great naval bombardment which jars the type-writer on my knee every few seconds make conditions under which I write this dispatch rather disturbing.

I am several miles inland and a mile behind the front line trenches.

A British general told me this morning, "I am satisfied with the progress we have made. From air, sea and land we have already punctured the outer fabric of the Atlantic Wall."

Last night hundreds of Allied planes flew over our men on the ground cheered. "C'est tres joli," commented French civilians, who say of the Allied invasion "C'est tres chic."

It is a miracle I am alive after 24 hours on this bridgehead—a bag of wicked tricks. Most of the time has been spent lying on my face burrowing into sand or earth. The beach is decidedly unhealthy.

The dead lie around, bloody and ugly, covered by a piece of tarpaulin or half-buried in the sand.

Laval Being Ousted

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC said today the Berlin radio is "apparently getting ready for a possible fall of the Vichy government which is meeting today."

It recorded a Berlin broadcast asserting "the People's National Government is ready to take over if the French government does not do its duty."

Saanich firemen were called out to a grass fire in Mount Douglas Park at 12.30 this morning. They were out for 30 minutes. It is believed a cigarette might have caused the blaze.

Canadians From Air

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (CP)—A headquarters announcement today disclosed that Canadian officers and men took part in the Allied airborne assaults in France.

VICTORIA 'Y' SECRETARY IN MONTREAL—"Glad to meetcha, I might be a prisoner of war myself someday," quips Charlie McCarthy's first cousin to Dr. Tracy Strong, head of the War Prisoners' Aid of the World Committee of the Y.M.C.A. Guy Armitage and his dummy friend gave a little backstage performance for Dr. Strong, Frank Paulding of Victoria, B.C., second from right, and L. E. Shaw of Halifax, president of the Canadian Y.M.C.A. during Canada's National "Y" celebrations in Montreal, June 6. (Editorial Associates Photo.)

French Envoy

Since Gerard Raoul Duval, first secretary of the National French Committee of Liberation in Canada, arrived here from Ottawa Thursday afternoon, his time, and also that of his charming wife, has been taxed to the limit with speaking engagements and social functions.

Speaking to a group of his compatriots at the Rockland Avenue home of Miss Kathleen Agnew Thursday evening, Mons. Duval said the people of France, in their hearts, had never ceased to be fighting French.

The French people, he said, were threatened by death in helping the invading Allies and at all times they had always been ready to shelter escaped prisoners. The number of Allied airmen who had been helped to escape was considerable.

His countrymen, Mons. Duval said, were ready to face death happily to assist in the success of the invasion. "They will follow orders, strike or sabotage," he said. "Without ammunition, surrounded by enemies, they show the spirit that is common to all Frenchmen. I give you as an example of their loyalty the town of Grenoble, where in December, 1943, 50 hostages were shot because of sabotage, and soon after the Germans were answered by the blowing up of Nazi factories and billets in the town."

Schoolboy Dies, Chum Near Death

Andree Gagnon, 14, is dead, and his schoolmate, Robin Sim, 13, lies critically injured with a fractured skull in St. Joseph's Hospital following an accident Thursday when the two schoolboys were struck by an army truck while they were on their way to school.

Andree died at 3.15 Thursday afternoon and today his schoolmates at Lampson Street School, Esquimalt, mourn the passing of one of their favorite chums. He was well loved by them and was regarded as one of the leaders among the boys.

He leaves his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. A. Gagnon, 472 Fraser Street, and two married sisters, Cedelia and Christine. His only brother, First Class Stoker William M. Gagnon, perished on H.M.C.S. Fraser which sank in June, 1940.

All the children of the Gagnon family attended Lampson Street School.

Young Andree's body is to be taken to McCall Bros' Funeral Parlor, where funeral arrangements will be made. Dr. E. C. Hart, city coroner, has set Monday morning as a tentative date for an inquest.

Robin Sim is the son of Mrs. E. R. Sim, 500 Joffre Street.

ROCKETS FLARE DEATH TO ENEMY—Five types of fighter planes are now equipped to fire rocket projectiles, according to a War Department announcement, which says the weapons have been used effectively in the China-Burma-India and Pacific theatres. Simultaneously, first pictures of R.A.F. rockets in use over Fortress Europe were radioed from London. Projectiles are being fitted under Beaufighter's wings (top photo

Urges Change Now in Colonial Policy

Granted political and economic freedom by Britain, India would make an all-out effort which would shorten the war, Kuldeep Singh Bains, Punjab-born resident of Victoria told Kinsmen Club in an address at the Empress Hotel Thursday night.

He condemned what he said was failure of the Colonial government in Burma and the East Indies as being the cause of making the Japanese advance easy, and said neither productive power nor manpower was being mobilized in India. There was a conflict between authorities and the "popular forces," he said.

He said the British policy was to divide Moslems and Hindus, and denied the people of India could not agree among themselves. Britain could not say she was protecting minority rights, he said.

"A nation must have freedom before it can fight for it," he said, "and if the Atlantic Charter and the Tehran decisions are

Invasion Service At Metropolitan Largely Attended

A sermon on the invasion and its spiritual lesson for the nation, the church and the individual, was delivered by Dr. Hugh McLeod at a service of continued intercession and prayers, conducted by Dr. A. E. Whitehouse, at Metropolitan United Church, Wednesday evening.

Dr. Whitehouse was assisted by ministers of other communions and Dean Spencer Elliott offered prayers at the service, which was attended by a large congregation. Rev. William Allan read the scriptures.

"We are once again to be entrusted with the responsibility of victory," Dr. McLeod told the congregation. "However long it may be delayed, victory, our leaders tell us, is certain. But the responsibilities of victory are only less, than the pangs of defeat, and these involve the principles of judgment and mercy, as we are taught by the Prophets, toward the building of a new world.

"With that world in view, the church must set herself to a high spiritual leadership, confidence, self-examination and faith."

Choir of Metropolitan Church was in attendance and hymns sung were: "Faith of Our Fathers," "Eternal Father Strong to Save" and "Break Day of God, O Break." Kipling's "Recessional" was sung by R. McAdam.

Last Rites Held For Pioneer Here

JAMES RUTLEDGE

Funeral services for James "Jim" Rutledge, 70, born in the Cowichan district where he spent his boyhood before coming to Victoria, were held today in McCall's Funeral Home, with Dr. Hugh A. McLeod officiating.

His death robs Victoria of another link with the early days and narrows still further the circle of old-timers who remember the city in its early days.

An active member of the Ancient Order of Foresters, he assisted in establishment of two lodges in Duncan and retained affiliation with Court Alpha up to the time of his death Tuesday evening in St. Joseph's Hospital.

From 1908 to 1918 he was chief of Duncan's volunteer fire brigade, where he was widely known in the barbering and restaurant fields. Most recently he had been proprietor of the Little Gem barbershop.

He was predeceased by his wife in November of last year. Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. R. Pugh, Mrs. J. Wren, Mrs. G. Leake and Mrs. L. Wooster, Victoria, and Mrs. E. Evans, Duncan, as well as three sons, Edward and Gordon in Victoria, and Clifford overseas with the R.C.N.

He has been serving with the U.S. Army Air Corps Intelligence Department in Italy. He joined the intelligence department in July, 1941, and was stationed in Washington. In 1943 he was sent to Africa on a secret mission.

Communique No. 6 Reports Arms Landed By Air and Sea

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE (Midnight) (AP)—British and Canadian troops are continuing to make progress and repeated enemy counter-attacks have been repulsed, SHAEEF announced tonight in communique No. 6.

The American bridgeheads are being gradually enlarged, although the enemy is fighting fiercely and his reserves have been in action along the whole front, headquarters stated.

The text: British and Canadian troops are continuing to make progress and repeated enemy attacks against the 6th Airborne Division have been held. The American bridgeheads are being gradually enlarged. The enemy is fighting fiercely and his reserves have now been in action along the whole front.

With the safe and timely arrival of merchant convoys and improvement in the weather, unloading of supplies is proceeding at a satisfactory rate. Development of the Allied beachheads continues. The supply by air of arms to our airborne troops early this morning was completely successful.

E-Boat Attack Driven Off

"Last night enemy E-boats operating in four groups entered the assault area and attempted to interfere with our lines of communication. A series of running fights ensued and the attacks were successfully beaten off. Three of the enemy were seen to be repeatedly hit before they escaped. During the early hours of today E-boats were attacked off the French and Belgian coasts by coastal aircraft. One E-boat was sunk and three others sunk or severely damaged.

"Our air assault in support of the land and naval forces against a wide variety of tactical targets has continued uninterrupted and in very great strength. The enemy air effort is yet on a limited scale, but some opposition from flak has been encountered.

"Ceaseless patrols were maintained over the immediate battle position by our fighters and fighter bombers; as targets presented themselves small units broke off from the main patrolling forces to dive-bomb and strafe armored columns, troop movements and gun positions. Other fighters covered shipping against air and sea attack.

Nazi Troops, Vehicles Blasted

"Behind the combat zone other fighter-bombers ranged over the country in a deep belt many miles south and southeast of the battle area, attacking armored vehicles, motor transport and troop concentration. Other targets included railways, fuel dumps, airfields and canal locks on the River Seine. Rocket-firing planes attacked a tank concentration west of Caen. Our heavy bombers in very strong force struck at railway focal points, railway yards and airfields well beyond the battle area. This morning medium and light bombers took advantage of the improved weather and made many sorties in the Normandy area against rail and road targets.

"Our aircraft have flown approximately 27,000 individual missions.

"In the periods from dawn June 6 to midday today, 176 enemy aircraft have been destroyed in the air. In the same period our losses were 289 aircraft.

DOMINION

"IN OUR TIME"

ONE OF THE GREATEST STORIES EVER PRODUCED BY WARNER BROS.

'In Our Time' At Dominion

While the fate of continents, empires and the world itself swings back and forth as momentous events unfold, the pattern of boy meets girl runs its usual course—except in Hollywood, where it becomes more ingenious with each passing picture.

As in real life, however, it is influenced by events; a large number reflect the news of the day.

The combination of timeliness with novelty is seen in the way Paul Henreid meets Ida Lupino in Warner Bros.' "In Our Time," opening today at the Dominion Theatre. They are brought together by a lady's small watch which sounds the hour by playing Chopin.

YORK THEATRE

Canada's heroes of the air, flying heading to victory, are the heroes, too, of "Captains of the Clouds," the Warner Bros. picture which is the new screen fare at the York Theatre, today. James Cagney stars at the head of a cast which includes Brenda Marshall, Dennis Morgan, George Tobias, Alan Hale, Reginald Gardiner and Reginald Denny as well as many members of the R.C.A.F.

"Filmed in technicolor, "Captains of the Clouds" tells an heroic story of some bush pilots from the woods of northern Canada who enlist in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

RIO THEATRE

Although Gloria Holden once more has grey hair in "A Gentleman After Dark," the Edward Small picture which is now at the Rio Theatre, she doesn't reach old age, as she has in six out of 10 of her latest pictures. As the wife of Preston Foster and foster-mother of Brian Donlevy's child, she only reaches middle-age.
